DIY AI TRAINING

27 Feb - 1 March 2012
Worcestershire

Courses are supervised by John Dawson
MRCVS, BVMS, Cert CHP

DIY AI can save you time and money by getting your cow inseminated at the right time without the stress of waiting for the technician.

Our DIY AI Courses are delivered over four days: 85% of the course time is devoted to hands-on tuition, so that the dexterity skills required have adequate time to be mastered.

All aspects of AI are covered, including: anatomy & physiology, legislation, safe handling of Liquid Nitrogen & semen straws, thawing procedures and the practical AI technique.

Practising the skill is on live cows, on farm. This on-farm environment gives a very relaxed training atmosphere. Assessment of the technique is done by ultrasound examination (cows are inseminated with a viscous liquid which shows up on an ultrasound scanner).

If you are interested, but undecided, please contact us and we can talk to you or put you in touch with a past student to hear a first hand account of the course.

Telephone: John Greenwood (07885 774067) or John Dawson (07803 902600)

Venue: Worcestershire

Timetable:

Day 1	am	Theory, Legislation, Anatomy & Physiology.
	pm	Practical – Anatomy & Physiology.
Day 2 & 3	All day	Practical Workshop – This is the only way to master the skills required.
Day 4	Test Day	The examination is carried out by inseminating the cows with a viscous liquid, which can be identified and located within millimetres using an ultra sound scanner
