CATTLE FOOT TRIMMING USING A GRINDER

27 - 28 March 2012

The use of electric grinding machines to trim cows' feet has become common practice but their use on farm has been being self taught. Use of these machines is not without its problems. It is very easy to remove too much hoof, imbalance the foot and be detrimental to the cow and they are dangerous to the operator.

The aim of this 2 day intensive, practical course is to instruct the participant in safe, well balanced trimming using a grinder.

WHO IS THE COURSE FOR?

This course is ideal for anyone currently using a grinder or wanting to start using one.

However it is an advanced procedure course and all those attending must have previously attended a recognized foot trimming course.

We are also launching an advanced grinding course (Level 2 - dates to be announced).

COURSE CONTENT

This is a very practical, hands' on course with small group numbers.

Participants will be instructed in one type of grinder and disc. They will learn how to maintain it in good working order and use it safely. They will learn how to trim and rebalance feet following the Dutch Method using grinders in combination with knives. The problems and pitfalls of using a grinder incorrectly will be emphasized and demonstrated. Practical sessions will be on cadaver feet allowing participants to develop confidence using a grinder without the anxiety of it being detrimental to the cow.
